Students accepted into Alpha Chi must be in the upper 10 per cent of the junior and senior class. They have to be nominated and approved by a faculty committee.

ALPHA CHI was organized on February 22, 1922, at Southwestern University in Georgetown, Tex. In February of 1955, it became a member of the Association of College Honor Societies. There are at the present about fifty chapters in the United States.

One of the purposes of the society is to provide for student tutoring.

"This is organized student assistance by qualified students to help people with troublesome subjects," said President Roger Lageschulte.

Other purposes are to provide close affiliation with the faculty and to provide activities that promote scholarly achievement.

The National Council of Alpha Chi awards a scholarship annually to a selected individual for graduate study.

The colors of the society are blue, which stands for truth, and green, which signifies victory.

The group will meet monthly and new members will be taken in, in the fall of the year. This will give juniors two years to participate.

Gov't Confab Here Next Week

"Student Contributions to the Liberal Arts College" has been selected as the theme for the Lutheran colleges conference to be held at Wartburg April 29 and 30.

Fifteen Midwest colleges have been invited to attend the session, which will begin at 3:45 p.m. in the Faculty Lounge.

EARNST OPPERMAN, dean of students, will speak on the "Realm of Student Government" at the 7 p.m. meeting in the Faculty Lounge. Discussion groups will follow with the topic "Role of Student Government in Religious, Academic and Social Problems."

"Student Response to Academic Goals of College" will be the subject for a panel Saturday morning. J. O. Chellevoid, dean of faculty, will represent Wartburg. Other participants on the panel include a member of the faculty from Luther College, Decorah, and two students.

THE CONFERENCE will be climaxed at a noon banquet. The Rev. Edwin Schick will address the group with the challenge "Wanted — Young Radicals!"

"We are attempting something unique in this conference," stated Roger Lageschulte, Student Body vice-president, "in that we are dealing with student government and the college institution as a whole rather than student government concerned only with government problems."

All sessions will be open to students and those interested are invited to attend, according to Lageschulte.

A selection to be used for Columbia Church of the Air broadcast on Sunday, May 1, will be recorded by the Choir.

Schoitz Is Head Of The New TALC

MINNEAPOLIS — With a triangular handshake during an impressive ceremony, The American Lutheran Church merged and emerged 2,258,000 members strong here yesterday.

Presidents William Larson, United Evangelical Lutheran Church, Henry F. Schuh, the old American Lutheran Church and Frederik A. Schoitz, Evangelical Lutheran Church were the participants of the hand clasp that will trim the number of Lutheran bodies to 14 when the church that merged yesterday begins operating officially, Jan. 1, 1961.

MERGER CEREMONIES commenced yesterday with a communion at Central Lutheran Church and followed with the 1,000 delegates being trailed by some 5,000 spectators in a processional to the Auditorium.

After the hand clasping and merging rites, the constitutional convention began with the election of the new president. Schoitz, Minneapolis, became the head of the new church on the third ballot. Elected vice president was the present president of the Michigan District of the old American Lutheran Church, Norm Mentor. Larson won the position of secretary of the new body.

THE CONVENTION continues today with ratification of the constitution and committee business meetings. It is scheduled to close on Monday.

Individual districts of the new church are slated to hold their own merging and constitution meetings before TALC becomes an official body, Jan. 1, 1961. Wartburg will be host to the Iowa District June 24, 25.

Attending the merger meeting from Wartburg are President C. H. Becker, Business Manager H. C. Engelbrecht and Prof. August Baetke.

For her program she will sing Handel's "Oh! Had I Judal's Lyre (Joshua)," Mozart's "Dove sono (Le Nozze di Figaro)," Massenet's "Il est doux, il est bon (Hérodiade)" and selections from Schumann's "Frauenliebe und-Leben (Op. 42)."

Also on the program will be "The Maids of Cadiz" by Delibes, "Aria from 'The Queen of Sheba'" by Castelnuovo-Tedesco, "How Do I Love Thee?" by Dello Joio and "The Dying Nightingale" by Deool Joio.

Diane Daggett, sophomore, will accompany Miss Stuhmer. The public is invited to attend the recital.

Creativity Stifled?

The closing question in Thursday's convo presentation, and some of the resulting answers, is an example of how it is possible for people to throw left-overs in the stew and make it turn out distasteful.

The question, directed to a panel speaking on creative writing, asked whether or not creativity on the Wartburg campus was stifled by pressure from the constituency and by public relations.

Three out of four of the panel members placed at least a portion of the blame for lack of creativity by Wartburg students on these outside pressures.

We feel that it is hardly a just supposition. Can creativity be stifled by any force?

If a piece of work was written that did not comply with the moral standards of the Castle, campus literary magazine, there is a probability that hundreds of magazines that are currently on the newsstands, would all want to buy it if it were written well enough.

But there is scarcely a trickle of material sent off campus. Therefore it is a great injustice to say that literary creativity is stifled in any way by campus policy.

There simply is not much interest in creative writing. Creative writing and advanced composition class members who take these courses every year as an elective are few — and they are getting fewer every year.

Rather than place the blame on outside pressures lets look at the real reasons for lack of original writing.

1. There is an increasing pressing for time. Writing is one of the most time-consuming phases of any work.
2. Most creative authors have to be alone to do work. This is hardly possible in the era of three-roommate dorms, hi-fi's and steel libraries.
3. Students are lazy. Original writing is as hard a work as there is and if it can be avoided, it will be.

The opening for creativity is always there. If writers are stimulated and interested it won't be stopped by any of these, nor will it be stifled by any threat of non-publication in a campus organ. There is always a market if the writing is good enough.

Public relations may halt commentary on factual campus happenings but they will never ruin the creativity stew.

Blueprints are now being drawn for a large scale overhaul job on dorm rooms on campus. Parents Day and open house is just two weeks away.

If absence makes the heart grow fonder, why do instructors get so perturbed when students miss class?

The grass has turned green again, reminding freshmen of the state they were in a few months ago.

Guppie growers, beware! Wartburg's fish pond is in operation, but still lacks fish.

Mid Knight March

By Bob Solete

I've spent a great deal of time lately studying the government of our Student Body. There are a number of things that have caused me to consider running for the Student Body presidency.

I feel I'm well qualified for the office. (I did have a little trouble with my grade point for a while, but this past year I've taken as many Schick snap-courses as I could and managed to get my grades up again).

In announcing my candidacy, I will put forth the things I feel important and original which I will make my aims. My platform is this:

1. I will work for any plan that calls for improving the road in front of the chapel and Little Theater dip.
2. I will work for a chicken in every pot.
3. I will work for more dances on campus.
4. I will not let my religion or the religion of my opponent enter into the election.
5. I will endeavor to get campus wages raised to a subsistence level.
6. I will work for the idea of two cars in every garage.
7. I will advocate an extension be built onto Fuchs Lounge and a personal light switch key be provided for every couple.
8. I will work for a well rounded weekend social activities program.
9. I will argue on issues, not personalities.
10. I will attempt to get some sort of a smoke screen for Grossmann Hall chimney.

And if I'm elected I will do what all have done in the past: forget all the promises I've made during the heat of the campaign and get down to realistic work.

Remember the motto when you go to the polls! DON'T LET STUDENT GOVERNMENT BECOME OBSOLETE — VOTE BOB SOLETE!

Students Appear To Lack Interest In Social Groups

Dear Editor

To the Students:

A recent action on Wartburg campus might have ignited a fire as hot as the heated debate a few years ago—dancing versus no dancing.

I expected North Hall to throw a victory celebration and many other students to join the race to organize. But Wartburg remained cool and calm. The action I am referring to is a motion passed by Senate on March 28 whereby social groups were allowed to organize on campus.

Last semester North Hall repeatedly applied for a constitution for a social organization, but met violent opposition and flat refusal by student government and the student-faculty committee which must approve constitutions and organizations.

Why did the Senate now pass the motion?

Simply because study and investigation seemed to prove interest and desire by many Wartburg students to improve the college social life by organizing social groups. Side information found that four other Midwest Lutheran colleges have social societies.

But where are the comments, the arguments and the excitement? I am certain some students are still thoroughly against such a change at Wartburg — the possibility of destroying academic interest or losing the togetherness a Christian college should have.

Many others believe competition between social groups would bring more variety and interest to Wartburg's social life. Does the lack of response to this action mean that the Senate has concerned itself with a fire that has already gone out? But if the students let themselves be heard, the debate may be continued.

The student-faculty committee will cast the final vote. Will they close the issue because of lack of student comment? "Social Groups at Wartburg?" "No! Never!" If that is your answer be proud of your stand and uphold it. But if your answer is "Yes!," then fight for it!

Doubleheader Pits Wartburg, Parsons

Marv Ott or Don Hein will take the hill this afternoon in the first game when the Knights tangle with Parsons in a doubleheader. Game time is 1:30 p.m.

Coach Earnest Oppermann's baseball squad will be going after its second and third consecutive win after dropping the season opener to Central 7-6 in a game that is under protest.

OPPERMANN STILL expressed concern about the hitting department saying that no power had been displayed in the last two games. The Knights have managed 21 hits in the two games, but none have been of the long ball caliber.

"Today's game will show what we have," stated Oppermann. "If you can take a doubleheader, you have a pretty fair squad."

Slated to handle duties along with Ott or Hein will be Al Exner or Derald Gourley behind the plate. First base will be filled by either Ott or Hein depending on who does the pitching.

DON SOWERS will handle things at third with Dean Holst at shortstop. Kermit Urbain and Terry Exner will be vying for honors at second base.

The outfield will consist of Darrol Bauer in right, Fred Mai in center and either Arlyn Saathoff or Don Lehmann in left.

The Knights currently have two men on the injured list as a result of the two games already played. Senior Chuck Nichol stepped in a hole while playing in Central's outfield and suffered a severe knee injury. Don Sowers also suffered a knee injury while sliding into home in the same game.

IN THE KNIGHTS' opening game of the season, Central edged out a 7-6 win with 7 runs coming in the fifth inning. This happened after Coach Oppermann stated that he was playing the rest of the game under protest as a result of a ruling by the umpire in the previous inning.

Tuesday afternoon the Knights journeyed to Fayette where they beat the Peacocks

4-2 as Jim Borchering struck out 16 men. Jim did not allow over one hit per inning but two consecutive errors on his part allowed the two runs to score.

Ott and Saathoff shared batting honors with two hits and one run batted in each. Kuehner was the losing pitcher for the Peacocks.

That's Where The Ball Bounces

TENNIS COACH Miss Adeline Langrock points to the "sweet" spot on the racquet as she readies Larry Mugridge, Dick Jebson and Ron Hart for today's matches at Central.

IM Softball Action In Tourney Form

Spring is here and so is intramural softball and track. Larry Niemann, IM committee chairman, said that softball action this year would be in the form of a double elimination tournament. Niemann said that anyone could get a team together, but that the roster is limited to 12 players. He added that a team need not be composed entirely from one floor or housing unit.

There will be eight teams, according to Niemann, and games will be played on Monday and Thursday afternoons.

Niemann also advised, "Start thinking about intramural track." He said that a track meet would be held sometime in the middle of May and urged that floors start organizing their squads.

IM Volleyball Crown To National Champs

Two undefeated league champions played a real championship game Thursday to decide which was the top intramural coed volleyball team.

Don Dietzler's National League dumped Derald (Skinner) Gourley's American League winners 18-3, 9-11, and 9-7, the last game being an overtime affair.

The victors rolled easily in the first game after piling up a big early lead, but Gourley's team came back to to salvage the second contest, 11-9.

Gourley's charges led 7-5 with about a minute to go in the rubber game, but Dietzler's netmen rallied for a point before the game ended. Since a team must win by two points, the final stanza went into overtime. Dietzler's outfit scored three straight points to take the volleyball crown.

Harriers Competing Today In Iowa Teachers Relays

Wartburg's track squad travels to Cedar Falls today where they are entered in the 37th annual Iowa Teachers Relays.

The Relays will be held in O. R. Latham Stadium and will be under the direction of Art Dickinson. Schools from throughout the midwest will be on hand for the event.

The Knights will be defending their title in the shuttle-hurdle relays.

Yesterday Bundgaard's runners competed in individual events at the Iowa Conference Relays at Pella.

THE HARRIERS opened their outdoor meet activity April 9 against Dubuque University and wound up on the short end of the 97-34 score. It was the Knights' first dual meet of the early season.

Although the meet was run in near-freezing temperatures and many poor times were posted, two Knights claimed new school records.

DIXON ZANDER, sophomore pole vaulter, cleared 11 feet 9½ inches to erase the old mark of 11 feet 6 inches held by Bob Campbell and Jack Bostrack. Chuck Wallin, junior weight man, threw the discus 138 feet 1½ inches to better his own school record of 136 feet 10 ½ inches.

Zander and Wallin were the only Knights to come home with firsts in the meet. Other Knights placing in the meet were Ulrich Columbus, third in the 40; Eddie Skay, second in the 100; John Niemeyer, tied for second in the 120 yard high hurdles and third in the low hurdles.

WAYNE DREIER, third in the 220 and javelin; Gerald Buckler, second in the shot and third in the discus; Wallin, second in the javelin; and Jim Thomas, tied for second in the pole vault.

Three freshmen turned in credible performances. Marv Corporan placed third in the two mile. Leonard Schmidt and Jerry Schara tied for second in the high jump.

Tuecke Given Grant

John Tuecke, senior, has received an assistantship in mathematics at Kansas State College, Manhattan, Kan., where he plans to do graduate work.

"They come by the dozens...each with a diploma and a bright smile"

"More and more bright, personable, well-educated young men come to me for jobs these days. And it's often hard to make a decision. That's why, in addition to other qualities, I look for maturity and stability. Life insurance ownership is one of the things that indicates this to me."

James Eissinger of Wishek, N. D., has been awarded a Fulbright Scholarship to study philosophy at the University of Heidelberg, Germany.

Eissinger, first semester graduate of Wartburg, is one of approximately nine hundred Americans to receive grants for study abroad during 1960-61. The scholarships come under the International Educational Exchange, a program of the U.S. Department of State.

Students are recommended by campus Fulbright committees and the Institute of International Education. Final selection is made by the Board of Foreign Scholarships, which is appointed by the President.
